Augmented Reality and Virtual Reality in Public Sector Training

Augmented Reality (AR) and Virtual Reality (VR) are edging their way into key areas of the public sector, with the potential to transform the use of data, increase employee performance, and improve the efficiency of public services.

In an era of constrained budgets, discover how other organisations are incorporating AR and VR into their training programmes whilst managing cost efficiencies and improving ROI.

Join us on 4th December in Central London. At this inaugural event, learn from early-adopters of AR and VR and gain insight into the application, implementation and results of integrating VR and AR into their training programmes across a variety of departments, sectors and stakeholders.

Key Topics include

- How to transform your learning and development strategy with AR and VR
- How to mitigate risk, improve efficiency and manage costs
- How AR and VR can transform knowledge acquisition and retention
- How to innovate and integrate your organisation systems and tools
